Graduate School of Economics, Hitotsubashi University
Admissions Office (AO) Selection for International Students to Enter the Doctoral Program
(Starting from April 2019 or September 2019)

The Graduate School of Economics of Hitotsubashi University admits a limited number of applicants from outside Japan to the Doctoral Program through Admissions Office (AO) selection. Applicants must be highly motivated, have a strong academic background in economics, and should be able to provide a detailed proposal for doctoral research that aims to make a substantive contribution to the field. If admitted, applicants are expected to work closely with their thesis advisors and other faculty members to complete all degree requirements within three years. Please read the following information carefully before preparing your application. We strongly recommend prospective applicants to contact the Admissions Office in advance to confirm whether they are eligible to apply for the Doctoral Program.

1. Timing of Admission and Eligibility for Applicants

The academic year at Hitotsubashi University begins on April 1 and is divided into four quarters: Spring (early April to early June), Summer (early June to late July), Autumn (mid-September to early November) and Winter (early November to mid-January). Admission for the Doctoral Program is open twice a year for the Spring enrollment and the Autumn enrollment.

To be eligible for the program starting in Spring 2019, applicants must satisfy condition (1) and one of the two conditions (2) or (3).

- (1) Hold a nationality other than Japanese.
- (2) Have received (or expect to receive by the end of March 2019) a master's degree or its equivalent from a university outside Japan of recognized standing.
- (3) Have received (or expect to receive by the end of March 2019) a master's degree from the Asia Public Policy Program at the School of International and Public Policy of Hitotsubashi University (hereafter APPP).

To be eligible for the program starting in Autumn 2019, applicants must satisfy condition (4) and one of the two conditions (5) or (6).

(4) Hold a nationality other than Japanese.

(5) Have received (or expect to receive by the end of July 2019) a master's degree or its equivalent from a university outside Japan of recognized standing.

(6) Have received (or expect to receive by the end of July 2019) a master's degree from the APPP.

2. Documents Required for Application

Applicants are required to submit the following application materials. Application documents should be filled out in a black or blue ball-point pen. All the documents must be in English or Japanese. If original documents are written in languages other than English or Japanese, please attach an English or Japanese translation.

(1) Application form

- Applicants must carefully fill out, sign and date the application form provided as a separate attachment.

(2) ID photos

- Three identification photographs of 30 mm x 40 mm in either B&W or color. Photo size should be strictly observed.

(3) Certificate of master's degree

- Certificate of master's degree (or certificate of expected graduation for applicants expecting to receive a degree) issued by the degree-awarding university.

(4) Transcripts

- Official copies of transcripts issued by all post-secondary institutions attended by the applicant should be submitted. Current students of the APPP should also include their most recent transcript from the APPP.

(5) Letters of recommendation

- At least one letter of recommendation is required. Two or more letters are desirable. Each letter should be in a sealed envelope and signed across the seal. The form for a recommendation letter is provided as a separate attachment.

- Letters of recommendation should be written by persons who are able to evaluate the applicant's academic performance and research ability.

- Current students of the APPP who wish to be enrolled from Autumn 2019 should submit at least one recommendation letter from a current faculty member of the APPP.

(6) TOEFL score

- Applicants who have received a degree from a country where English is not the main language must have a TOEFL-iBT score of over 92 or TOEFL-PBT over 580.

- The TOEFL score must be official and should be mailed directly to the Graduate School of Economics, Hitotsubashi University (TOEFL Institution Code 0436, Graduate School of Economics Department code 84). In addition to the official TOEFL score, applicants should submit a photocopy of the TOEFL score report. TOEFL score reports must be dated January 1, 2017 or later.

- In place of a TOEFL score, applicants may submit other documents that prove equivalent competence in English. Please consult with the Admissions Office in advance.

- Applicants who have received a degree from a country where English is the main language are exempt from this requirement. Applicants who have received (or expect to receive) a master's degree from the APPP are also exempt from this requirement.

(7) Research proposal

- Research proposal must be word-processed, 11-point font, double-spaced, and no more than 20 pages in A4 or US letter size.

- Research proposal should include: (1) research questions and objectives, (2) a review of the literature most relevant to the proposed research, (3) the originality and significance of the proposed research, (4) data and methodology, and (5) a reference list.

(8) Samples of academic work

- Samples of the applicant's work that demonstrate preparedness for undertaking doctoral level research as well as competence in academic writing (e.g., master's thesis, published work, discussion papers, or term papers).

(9) Residence certificate or passport

- For applicants living in Japan, if available, a copy of a residence certificate stating the applicant's residential status and duration should be provided. If not available, a copy of the photo page of the applicant's passport should be provided.

- For applicants living outside Japan, a copy of the photo page of the applicant's passport should be provided.

(10) Application fee

- There is a non-refundable application fee of JPY30,000.

For applicants living in Japan

Payment must be made directly to the following bank account. A copy of the bank receipt for the wire transfer should accompany the application.

Bank Name: Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation

SWIFT Code: SMBC JP JT

Bank Branch Name: Kunitachi Branch

Account type: "Futsu"

Account number: 7761762

Account name: "Kokuritsu Daigaku Houjin Hitotsubashi Daigaku Keizaigaku Kenkyuka Kenteiryoguchi"

For applicants living outside Japan

For payment using a credit card, see the instructions in a separate attachment. Applicants may choose to make payment to the above bank account using an international bank transfer. Proof of payment should accompany the application.

- The application fee is waived for international students who are current recipients of a MEXT (Monbukagakusho) scholarship. These applicants must submit proof of their MEXT scholar status from the university in which they are currently enrolled.

- The application fee is waived also for current students of the APPP.

3. Application Procedures

(1) Application Package

Please place all the required materials (with the exception of the official TOEFL score, if applicable, which should be mailed directly to the Graduate School of Economics by the testing organization) in an envelope and send the package to the following address by registered mail (e.g., Express Mail Service or EMS). Please write “Application for Doctoral Program” in red ink at the bottom of the envelope. No electronic submissions will be accepted.

(2) Mailing Address

Application packages should be sent to the following address:

Admissions Office

Graduate School of Economics

Hitotsubashi University

2-1 Naka Kunitachi, Tokyo

186-8601 JAPAN

Fax: +81-42-580-8195

E-mail: admission@econ.hit-u.ac.jp

(3) Application Periods

The application period for the program starting in Spring 2019 is from October 1 to December 14, 2018 (Japan Standard Time).

The application period for the program starting in Autumn 2019 is from April 1, 2019 to May 24, 2019 (Japan Standard Time).

Application packages should arrive at the Admissions Office during the application periods. No late submissions will be accepted.

(4) Once submitted, all application documents become official records of Hitotsubashi University and will not be returned. Applicant's personal data will be treated as confidential and may be used by the Graduate School of Economics for administrative and emergency purposes only. The application fees are not refundable.

(5) Please note that any false or misleading statements may result in a rejection or withdrawal of our admission offer. The Admissions Office must be immediately notified of any changes of status from the submitted applications.

4. Admission Process

(1) Admission decisions will be based mainly on the application documents submitted. When necessary, we may also request applicants living in Japan to visit the Graduate School of Economics of Hitotsubashi University for an interview. For applicants living outside Japan, we may offer an alternative in place of a face-to-face interview. In the case of holding an interview or its equivalent, we will contact each applicant to set the date and other details. When the interview or its equivalent is held, admission decisions will be based also on the results of the interview or its equivalent.

(2) Once received, the application will usually be processed within 50 business days. However, in cases involving an interview or its equivalent, the decision process may take longer. The admission decision will be notified to applicants individually.

(3) The number of students to be admitted through AO selection for international applicants is as follows:

Around 5 (for the enrollment in Spring 2019)

Around 5 (for the enrollment in Autumn 2019)

5. Procedures for Enrollment

(1) To enroll in the Doctoral Program, prospective students are required to pay a matriculation fee of JPY282,000. The payment period for Spring enrollment is from March 1 to March 7, 2019. The payment period for Autumn enrollment is from July 24 to July 31, 2019. Please note that applicants who are admitted but fail to pay the matriculation fee during these specified periods will be regarded as declining to enroll in the program. The matriculation fee is waived for current students of the APPP.

(2) If prospective students wish to receive an exemption or deferment of the payment of the matriculation fee, they should consult with the Student Services Division at Hitotsubashi University and apply for exemption or deferment during the period specified by Student Services Division before making the payment. (One cannot apply for exemption or deferment after making the payment.) Please note that if the application for exemption or deferment is rejected, such prospective students must make a prompt payment of the matriculation fee after the rejection.

(3) Prospective students will be notified further about the necessary procedures and documents for enrollment, including tuition fees (JPY535,800 per year) that must be paid after the enrollment.

(4) The matriculation and tuition fees are subject to future change.

6. Additional Remarks

(1) The admission process is handled by the Admissions Office of the Graduate School of Economics.

(2) Admission-related questions should be sent to the Admissions Office by mail, e-mail

(admission@econ.hit-u.ac.jp), or fax (+81-42-580-8195). Questions by telephone will not be answered.

(3) Applicants with a disability requiring special attention should consult with the Admissions Office in advance for necessary assistance.

(4) Prospective applicants are encouraged to consult with one or more faculty members of the Graduate School of Economics in advance and find a prospective advisor for the applicant's proposed research before submitting the application. The list of faculty members and their fields of specialization is provided in a separate attachment. Having a prospective advisor is encouraged but not required for the application. Applicants both with and without prospective advisors will be assessed fairly in making admission decisions.

(5) Prospective international students must have or obtain a resident status that enables them to enroll in the Doctoral Program in accordance with the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act by the start of the program.

(6) Prospective students who are dispatched and financially supported by a foreign government must obtain a letter of approval for the enrollment issued by the foreign government.

(7) For the availability of scholarships and funding from outside sources, please contact the Admissions Office for more information.

7. Timeline of the Doctoral Program

Students in the Doctoral Program are expected to complete all degree requirements, including the submission of doctoral dissertation, in three years in the following sequence.

(1) First Year

In the first year, students are required to choose a main advisor and take his or her seminar (an interactive and discussion-based course with a small number of students who share the same fields of specialization) and establish close working relationships with the advisor. By the end of the first year, each student must form a dissertation advisory committee consisting of at least two faculty members of the Graduate School of Economics and submit a dissertation prospectus to the committee for approval. The dissertation prospectus must identify original and important research questions and provide detailed research plans.

(2) Second Year

In the second year, students must continue to take their advisors' seminars and are expected to report their research progress to their advisors regularly. Before submitting a dissertation, students are required to make at least two presentations of their research in their advisors' seminars or research workshops.

(3) Third Year

In the third year, students must continue to take their advisors' seminars. By the end of the third year, students are expected to submit a dissertation to the faculty committee of the Graduate School of Economics. At least two letters of recommendation must accompany the dissertation. The completed dissertation must be defended before the dissertation committee that consists of five faculty members of the Graduate School of Economics (or equivalent) at a public presentation.
