Graduate School of Economics, Hitotsubashi University
Master's Program in Economics (Starting from April 2025)
Spring Admission Examination

The Graduate School of Economics of Hitotsubashi University aims to develop researchers and practitioners who are equipped with cutting-edge knowledge of economics and advanced analytical skills, who can accurately grasp complex economic and social phenomena, discover important issues, and solve them. To this end, the Master's Program offers a systematic educational system based on coursework that builds on the core subjects in the fields of microeconomics, macroeconomics, statistics and econometrics, and economic history. In addition, the Master's Specialization Course also offers a professional development program aimed at fostering practitioners with a high level of expertise. Prospective students are expected to have a high level of motivation to learn, a spirit of intellectual inquiry, the ability to think and persevere, and communication skills, including English, in addition to basic knowledge of economics. We hope to attract enthusiastic students to our program, which we are proud to say is one of the best in the world with excellent professors.

Please read this document carefully before preparing your application.

1. Courses and the Number of Students Admitted to the Master's Program

There are two courses in the Master's Program: The Academic Researcher Course and the Professional Analyst Course. The Academic Researcher Course is designed for students who wish to progress to the Doctoral Program and provides students with the advanced knowledge and research skills required to pursue an academic career. The Professional Analyst Course is designed for students who wish to finish graduate school with a master's degree and provides the frontier expertise and analytical skills necessary for a career as a professional economist in the public or private sector. Students enrolled in the Professional Analyst Course may choose to participate in one of the four professional training programs focusing on (a) public policy, (b) statistics and finance, (c) regional studies, or (d) health economics. Details on the screening process for these programs will be provided after the enrollment. Students enrolled in the Academic Researcher Course are not eligible for these programs. Note, however, that students enrolled in the Professional Analyst Course may choose to progress to the Doctoral Program if they fulfill the necessary academic requirements.

Course	Major	Number of students to be admitted
Academic Researcher Course	Major in Economics	82
Professional Analyst Course

Note: The number of students to be admitted above is the total number of students including those admitted to the Master's Program through Autumn admission examination and Internal Entrance Examination for Master's Program.

3. Documents Required for Application

Applicants are required to "Register online through the web application page" and "Submit documents by mail". Please refer to the attached "Graduate School Application Process" as well as this application guideline for the online application registration through the web application page. All the documents must be in English or Japanese. If original documents are written in languages other than English or Japanese, please attach an English or Japanese translation.

(1) Preparation of documents

Please prepare the following documents. The documents include "Documents to be submitted by an applicant" as shown in Table 1 below and "Documents to be submitted by a person other than an applicant (Recommender)" (A Letter of recommendation) as shown in Table 2. As some applicants may be exempted from submitting some documents, please read the details for each document carefully.

A) For the formatted documents, please use the Word or Excel format file provided on the following web page (Admissions to the Graduate Programs), and avoid hand writing except for your signature.

<<https://www.econ.hit-u.ac.jp/eng/page/graduate/admission.html> >

- B) If any of the submitted documents include certificates or other documents written in a foreign language other than English, please attach a Japanese or English translation of them.

(2) Creation of PDF file

When you have prepared the documents, please create PDF files of the documents 2. through 9. in Table 1, excluding "Application Form" 1. These PDF files are uploaded to the online application registration (see below, "4. Application Procedure").

- A) Each document must be scanned in color at a resolution of 150 dpi or higher without distortion or shadows, using a copier or similar device with a scanning function. Images taken with digital cameras are not acceptable, as they may be distorted and cannot be read correctly. The "6. Research Proposal" should be converted directly from a Word file to a PDF file.

※Certificates of TOEFL and etc should be saved as a PDF editable file.

- B) These PDF files should be combined into a single PDF file. The file name should be "Last name_first name_application.pdf" and "last name first name" should also be written in alphabets.

e.g., Hanako Hitotsubashi: hitotsubashi_hanako_application.pdf

5. Admission Process

The admission process consists of two stages. In the first stage of selection, decisions are made based on the transcripts, the recommendation letter, the research proposal and TOEFL® or TOEIC® score. Applicants who pass the first stage are requested to take an online oral examination. In the second stage of selection, evaluation is made based on the materials for the first stage of selection and the score of the oral examination.

6. Oral Examination

Applicants who passed the first stage of selection will be requested to take the online oral examination. Please secure a quiet place for the examination where anybody other than an applicant cannot access. The Administration Office will give due consideration to an applicant's wish to take the oral examination in English if stated in " Supplementary material on language skills ". However, the Administration Office may conduct an oral examination in Japanese for academic reasons, if deemed necessary.

(1) Schedule of the oral examination

Date	Time	Contents

7. Announcement of Successful Applicants

The results of the first stage of selection will be announced around 13:00 on January 20, 2025, and the results of the second stage of selection will be announced around 13:00 on February 13, 2025 on the Graduate School of Economics website. Successful applicants will also receive individual notifications from the Administration Office.

8. Procedures for Enrollment

- (1) To enroll in the Master's Program, prospective students are required to pay a matriculation fee of JPY282,000. The payment period is from February 25 , 2025 to February 28 , 2025. Please note that applicants who passed the examinations but fail to pay the matriculation fee during this period will be regarded as declining to enroll in the program.
- (2) If prospective students wish to receive an exemption or deferment of the payment of the matriculation fee, they should consult with the Student Services Division at Hitotsubashi University and apply for exemption or deferment during the period specified by Student Services Division before making the payment. (One cannot apply for exemption or deferment after making the payment.) Please note that if the application for exemption or deferment is rejected, such prospective students must make a prompt payment of the matriculation fee after the decision.
- (3) Prospective students will be notified further about the necessary procedures and documents for enrollment, including tuition fees (JPY535,800 per year) that must be paid after the start of the academic year.
- (4) Prospective international students must have or obtain a resident status that enables them to enroll in the Master's Program in accordance with the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act by the start of the academic year (April 1, 2025).
- (5) Prospective students who are dispatched and financially supported by a foreign government must obtain a letter of approval for the enrollment issued by the foreign government.
- (6) The student fees (university entrance and tuition fees) are subject to change.

9. Additional Remarks

- (1) The admission process is handled by the Administration Office of the Graduate School of Economics.
- (2) Admission-related questions should be sent to the Administration Office by e-mail (econ-exam.gs[at]ad.hit-u.ac.jp).. Please write your reference number, EM02XXX, or admission ticket number whenever sending us a message. Questions by telephone will not be answered.

Application materials submitted to the Administration Office will not be returned. The application fees are not refundable.

- (4) Examination scores of successful applicants may be used for educational assistance after the enrollment.

Students with Disabilities or Special Needs: Entrance Examination and Academic Learning Assistance

Applicants with disabilities or special needs who require special consideration during the application process and/or once they start their program at the Graduate School of Economics should notify the Admissions Office by one month before the application period before submitting their Master Program application documents. Although the Admissions Office will accept special consideration requests after this date, we may not be able to make the necessary arrangements in time for the screening and/or the start of the program.

By requesting special consideration for the application process, you are not obligated to apply to the Graduate School of Economics. If you are undecided about whether to apply for the program, you can still submit special consideration requests.

Note: Depending on the types of special consideration you request, it may take some time for the Admissions Office to respond.

Note on Student Dormitories Provided by the University

Hitotsubashi University has four dormitories for international students located in Kunitachi and Kodaira. Applicants who wish to live in the dormitory should submit applications following the application guidelines that will be announced in June and December at the following website. Please note that dormitory selection is by lottery.
